My Medical Cannabis Story:

I've been using cannabis for over 20 years, legal or not. It has always relieved my pains associated with sports or work injuries and has kept me from a life of pain killing tablets.

Since having my prescription card for cannabis, my intake has remained the same, the quality of medicine has gone way up and I actually am seeing less consumption on my part due to that higher quality.

I make my living as a roofer and have been a carpenter for the last 7 years. Cannabis definitely helps for relieving the everyday pains associated with being a career roofer and helps me make a good living by being able to work every day.

My lifetime of using cannabis has kept me young, healthy, and active - it's great!

My Medical Cannabis Story:

I suffer from chronic pain, severe muscle spasms, major depression, anxiety-panic, I take hydroxyzine, tramadol, flexril, robaxin, vicoden, and trigger point injections. For over 10 years, I have not been able to do the activities I did in the past hiking backpacking and a lot of walking when not depressed. After receiving medical marijuana my physical health has improved my sleep and mood. Last July I stopped taking ~~the~~ marijuana and ended up back at clinic getting trigger point injections again and vicoden. At that time I got back on marijuana and muscle spasms arthritis and disc degeneration pains have gone down. I believe it also helps with depression and sleeping disorders I have, while taking marijuana I do not take these meds and injections (6 med total by using 2 med)

I take depending on how active I am depends on how much I use (4 or 5 puffs in morning a little more in after noon, and nite, I have used up to 2 grams at nite I told my Dr. she said good if that's what it takes keep doing it. I live a better life with medical marijuana and not the pills and shots

Before I started smoking marijuana I suffered from chronic migraines that made it hard for me to lead the normal life I had been living before my accident. Two years ago I fractured my eye socket and collapsed a cheekbone and ever since I have daily chronic headaches and severe migraines. I have been to many neurologists and all they could offer me were prescription drugs, none of which helped with my pain. After figuring out that conventional medication and treatment did not work for me, I began to explore other forms of treatment. During this time I half-believed what my parents and teachers had taught me—which was that cannabis was a “bad drug” that made you unmotivated and lazy, however I was desperate to be rid of the daily headaches and sickening anxiety and I would gladly trade a little motivation to be free from what was holding me back.

When I started smoking marijuana on a daily basis I instantly noticed a huge change in how I felt and now I was able to go through my day without pain. And unlike the migraine medicine that made me very disoriented to the point where I would have to lie down for several hours, marijuana allows me to function and complete daily tasks.

Despite my initial concerns marijuana has actually increased my productivity levels, because when I'm pain free and relaxed I can think clearly and get things done! Being a student and holding a job requires a lot of mental and physical effort and before I started smoking cannabis I was not performing well in either because my pain inhibited me. It has helped me in so many ways that no other drug has been able to do.

I use marijuana to ease my pain and it has also helped with my anxiety ... years of naturopathic and conventional medical treatment had and has since failed me. Marijuana has not. I have yet to find another natural or prescription product that produces the same positive effect on my over all well-being.
